

Dr Rebecca Poole
Faculty of Medicine
University of Southampton

'Genetics, Genomics and me'

The cost and time of sequencing the entire genetic code of an individual has greatly decreased, such that it may soon be a routine test performed within the NHS. This talk will explore issues surrounding genome sequencing and explore the potential benefits and pitfalls and asks whether you would have your entire genetic code sequenced?

Wednesday 9th November 2016

4-5pm in Science

Bishop Wordsworth's School